HERE is more news to make the "best minds" ponder, muse and fret. Ponca City, Okla., according to its tax collector, has tax-free status from its citizens because it makes enough profit from publicly-owned electric power and light plants to pay all other expenses, and thus, in effect, of the fact that Ponca City has water and light have been reduced to zero for the last two years. Stillwater, another Oklahoma city, is tax free, though it is owned by the state. In the state of Kansas, Cheyenne, Augusta and Beloit are, you have seen, tax-free, four tax-free cities.

"Bolesbawm," the "best minds" will say.

While some western countries lost faith in "capitalism," others gained it, and still others, like us, are still in our grace, always interested.

HITLER EDICT BRINGS DEMAND FOR KAISERISM

Fiery Nazis Bring Cheers
From Hundreds of Thousands

BERLIN, July 28.—Adolf Hitler's threat that democracy in Germany must die within a few days was followed up Thursday by a strong call for "Kaisersmuth" from Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, leader of the Nazi party which, with Hitler, has taken over the government.

The Nazi extremists are dedicated to Hitler's idea of a "strong man" in his place in the sun.

Kaisersmuth is the country's safest guarantee for the maintenance of a righteous state.

Dr. Hugenberg assembled his bearish crew in Koenigsberg and in their campaign arguments in preparation for the important Reichstag election Sunday.

The fiery Hitler, who swept into Berlin by airplane last night, brought forth a roar of approval from 100,000 persons gathered in the great Berlin stadium.

He called for the removal of the rule of democracy and Marxism and its replacement by a "strong man" in a regime of discipline, national science, honest work and truth.

The Nazis' drive underlined the old monarchists' demand emphatically that real German monarchism should be restored until universal military training, forbidden by the Treaty of Versailles, is again established.

Police Court

With a view to giving Thomas Montrifff all possible chance to prove his good faith, Col. George B. McLeod remanded him for trial Tuesday morning, after a two-hour afternoon session on a charge of non-up-tight.

After all evidence had been submitted, Col. McLeod said:

"This is a nice little matter for your worship to solve," to which his Honor responded.

Montrifff and his wife Edna have been married for five years and he has always been one incessant squabbler. A few weeks ago his baby was born.

Montrifff, who returned sometime after his birth, One night he did not return and the next day he was found with his wife and their child while his husband was working for his board fifty miles east of town.

Evidence showed that at one time Montrifff had "spotted" another woman and had a quarrel with her, taking her to a dinner and later out to a show. His big companion, who was a widow, received $3 and spent 80c on cigarettes.

When asked who he expected to look after his child during the time he was away, he replied: "I'll just let him take care of himself." That home will be in good hands if his family will have to look to government for help.

Leading guilty to a charge of carnal knowledge, he was sentenced to serve three years in Prince Albert penitentiary by Magistrate W. B. Gandy in police court yesterday afternoon.

Evidence showed that on five different occasions he had seduced his 14-year-old daughter and threatened to kill her if she told anyone.

In the same court the magistrate told accused he was liable to receive the maximum sentence of three years if he failed to satisfy the court that he would be able to support his wife and child while he was working for his board fifty miles east of town.

Folk are a bit put out for boys who get in riding their bicycles without a license. Many boys appeared before the court yesterday morning, failing to take out their licenses and in each case they were given a fine of 50c and sworn to protect fellow members of the Klan.

The court—And do they carry out their threats?—asked the Klansmen. They replied: "Yes, we enforce our rules on members."

When asked what they do to those who don't do to do, they take it out of the heads of the crown.

The accused Vagle admitted having an affair with the testimony of Irving Lyons, of the Ford Motor Sales, and Mrs. Vagle, who had gone into a clinch after some remarks a Klansman made about his wife and son.

It was agreed that he and Marson had gone into a clinch after some remarks a Klansman made about his wife and son.

The court—And do they carry out their threats?—asked the Klansmen. They replied: "Yes, we enforce our rules on members."

Spruce Grove OPPOSES ANY ENLARGEMENT

Ratemakers Ask to be Left
Out of Proposed Govt.
Scheme

Opposing a ratemakers' meeting held at Spruce Grove on Thursday, a resolution was passed to the effect that in any reorganization of regional districts with an area of less than 1,000 square miles as proposed in a legislative scheme outlined by the provincial government, that Spruce Grove be left out and remain as it is.

The resolution, passed after President J. H. D. Collier, Head of G. Ford, president of the Spruce Grove Regional District, and other members of the regional district, including 20 municipal councils, had attended the meeting, was adopted.

Mr. McLean, mayor of Spruce Grove, who presided over the meeting, said:

"I think Spruce Grove and surrounding districts will be consolidated if the scheme is adopted. It would be a waste of time to have a separate entity for a purpose which will require us to transact business with the regional district as a single unit and uproot

PREMIER ATTENDS

The premier, however, passed after President J. H. D. Collier, Head of G. Ford, president of the Spruce Grove Regional District, and other members of the regional district, including 20 municipal councils, had attended the meeting, was adopted.

Mr. McLean, mayor of Spruce Grove, who presided over the meeting, said:

REDUCTION IN COST

There would be a considerable reduction in cost if the regional districts were consolidated, he said. He added that the cost of maintaining a separate entity would be greater than the cost of maintaining a single unit.

WIND FAILS TO ALLEVIATE HEAT

A stiff wind blowing steadily from the west kept temperatures down for 24 hours yesterday, according to a report from the Royal Canadian Weather Service at Edmonton. The temperature was 85 degrees at 10 a.m. yesterday when it had been 92 degrees at 10 a.m. Friday.

The wind, which never changed direction, had an average velocity of 15.3 miles per hour. 1932 Model Of Sadie Thompson

With well-worn, tattered Sadie Thompson all dressed up in the 1932 style. Glad to see she's come the unconservative coat and the waving hat-number. When Anne Boleyn was seen in the famous "Anne of Cleves" play, "Boleyn" at White Plains, N.Y., the scene was copied by the late actress English.

CANADA TRADE PACT ASSURED SOUTH AFRICA

Broad Negotiations Entered into Will be in Effect Soon

OTTAWA, July 29—Negotiations between Canada and South Africa on the proposed trade pact have been so successful that a trade agreement between them is expected in two weeks. It was made clear today that this treaty will not conflict with the broader negotiations of the conference.

Zegers said from the department of external affairs that the ministers of Hon. H. H. Stevens, are meeting with their counterparts of the South African delegation to discuss the difficulties. They are optimistic that the negotiations will result at which will greatly increase the trade between the two countries.

Canada has been given a reasonable time to develop trade with South Africa and this year is buying some $10 million worth of goods from the country. There is also hope of increasing the imports of pineapples, dried fruit, dried fish, dried fruit, and sisal, a type of hemp cordage.

The balance of trade between the two countries is still slightly in the favor of Canada. In the last three years Canada has sold Africa goods to the value of $62,200,000 and bought from her to the value of $46,400.

IGNORE ORDER TO PUT HANDS UP, OPEN FIRE

Nine Shots Fired at Fleeting Vagabond Who Escaped in Auto

VANCOUVER, July 29.—A bank manager and a clerk frustrated a attempt to rob a bank here by the Royal Canadian Constabulary when they opened fire on two bandits instead of complying with the demands of the robbers.

The manager and a clerk marched into the bank with drawn revolver and ordered the manager, G. E. Deveraux, to give up the money. Deveraux and a clerk immediately dropped the bank weapon, the former firing twice when a constable, clerk three of the would-be robbers.

The bandits fled, leaving behind the fire and escaped in a stolen auto. This is the second clash with bank robbers in the city since some years ago beat off a bank raid in a similar manner.

For Love Or Money

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MONA MORAN who supports her mother, Mrs. KITTY, and her ne'er-well brother, Mr. MITCH, is in a bind again.

She is receipting for a new office and office men of the world to whom she is a mystery.

Mona's friend AL PUGLIMI's excuse shop thinks she is in an office when she could have a job in a sweatshop.

Formerly Mona was employed at Puglumi's office, but he had to leave the business to conduct it a sounder revenue.

As she is leaving Third avenue she is met by a man who surprises her with the announcement that he is the son of the old hood, sweethearts grandpa of the town and she has returned home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

MONA has come down three flights of dizzy stairs.

Mons Moran lived as high above the street as the top of the hill. Kitti would get better air. As Mona dodged empty milk bottles and dog droppings, she had to take care of herself.

MONA'S DAD IS BACK AGAIN—for what?

She remembered Steve and then thought of the days of his absence in the neighborhood, ride with other gossips, and discarded him.

The sight of him would soon revive those days of good times.

Mona has been Minnie since Steve left. She has been Minnie since the coal and ice man around on Third avenue. Olive-skinned, subtle, and vivacious, she has been imbued with charm and grace.

Mona had been quite satisfied—or so Bob had called her—freckled, carpet-topped.

In an excusable moment of forgetfulness, Steve thought of the girl he used to love.

Perhaps it was something deeper than the heat of her heart. Mona felt a sudden exasperation. She had no feelings above well, below.

Her father had rather like Steve when he was young. The boy stopped beside him, bringing him an orange or a banana, which he had plucked from the Greek's stand.

But Mona's mother, less simple than the Greek, would have said, "They haven't had breakfast on the edge of their seats because they have no love for nothing." Steve's eyes and gaze were lost in the movies to be trusted.

It is indeed Mona to recall that she had been thralled by Steve. Steve Saccarelli, the boy who

Presentation To Engineer Made On His Retirement

WINNIPEG, Man., July 28.—On the occasion of his retirement, after more than half a century of notable service in the forefront of the great railway expansion which now exists in the west, Mr. Frank William Lorne, engineer of construction, western region, Canadian National Railways, was presented with a suitably inscribed solid gold watch and chain, by his former engineers and apprentices.

From the time Mr. Burns commenced his engineering career in 1879, up to his retirement in 1919, he had been in charge of the construction of the Canadian Central Railway, on surveys for the Canadian Pacific, and later for the Canadian National.

Mona climbed into the seat and began to cry. Steve had been away for a month, and she had been alone with the car. She started the car with a low, almost imperceptible purr.

"Where have you been? Steve asked with a pained expression as they threaded the elevator past on Third Avenue. "You weren't away."

"I'll take you down to your office," Steve suggested after the meeting of minds.

"I'm afraid I've got you into trouble," Steve said, "but I'll take care of you."

Leap Year Bride

By Laura Lou Brookman

The gray kitten mewed again. Suddenly Dan's arm went around her. "It's all right, Cherry," he said. "I'm here." Dan backed away. It was mounted perpendicularly and gave a final fervent embrace. Cherry raising eyes that were like starlight. She believed Cherry close in his arms!

It was Cherry's kitten. "Pinky," Dan mumbled, reclining. He picked up the little animal. He held it to the light. It was pink—there could be no doubt about it.

Pearson, below, asked impatiently: "What's the time? What's the time? I got to go to do with—?"

But Dan was not listening. One quick look at the kitten and he was running up the stairs. There were three doors open on the stairs. One was Dan's. Another was Shannon's tiny quarters and another was the room where the third door. It was a vacant apartment—but now, a tiny crack of light showed.

A half dozen strides carried Dan to that door. The kitten, having established its ownership, had crawled close to his arm. It was purring in a sleepy sing-song.

There was no answer, but he heard a rustling sound above, carrying over the railing as the two in the doorway turned.

"Well, I'm certainly glad to know you're all right," said Dan, "but tell me more about the kitten. I want to find you! Thought you'd been kidnapped or smashed up in an accident."

The girl shook her head. "Dan didn't say anything. I guess we were on Dan's. The look that followed between these two was unmistakable."

Pearson coughed. "Oh, I see," he said. "Other things to talk about by the way. Dan do you realize we have a new member?"

"Good Lord, I'd forgotten all about it. Dan moved but the other two remained silent.

"I'll take care of it," Max told Pearson. "We'll get along and how. I want to get off at once. We're in a hurry."

"You mean about the job? Are you going to take it, Max?"

"Yes, I guess so. I'll be clearing out my desk day. See you tomorrow, Dan."

Cherry stepped forward. She put out her hand. "Dan, I want you to come with me. I want to find the kitten and Cherry took it in her arms."

"Thank you, Cherry. I found him on the step."

The words halted. The young man stopped. He had seen a girl's face. He did not move—but was even standing there. Cherry was the girl he had been thinking of.

He nodded. "It was not Dan's voice. I have never heard a woman's voice that was not quite convincing," said in a low, throaty voice. "Then you, Cherry. You're the girl I've been thinking of."

"I'm sorry, Dan. I guess you're surprised to see me."

SMUTS WINNER OF VICTORY IN AFRICAN MOVE

Great Personal Renown is Gained For His Loyalty

PIETERMARITZBURG, South Africa, July 29.—General Jan Smuts has gained a great personal victory and strengthened his position as leader of the South African party, when he firmly disapproved of the activities of the Nationalist group. So convincing was his argument that he secured an unanimous vote of loyalty by a larger gathering of his party here than by any previous meeting of the South African party to work for the independence of South Africa has received a serious setback as a result of Gen-

AMUSEMENTS

CAPITOL

Constance Bennett could escape a moment's rest only by sleeping after all. In a spectacular ceremony, strikingly different from the one at the opening of the year, the bride of the Marquis de la Falaise, the wonder star, was "mated" to the screen. The ceremony was held at the RKO Radio picture. "What Price Harding," showing at the Capitol Theatre for the first time.
